Search Engines That Have Been Used To Get The Back Links

1. Google.com
2. Yahoo.com

Note

The analysis can never be 100% complete because no search engine reveals all web pages that link to a web site. However, it can show trends that are important for high rankings on Google.com.

Number of inbound links

Link popularity measures how many web pages link to your site. The number of web pages linking to your site is not as important as the quality of the web pages that link to your site.

All major search engines take the quality and the context of the links into account. Search engines assume that your web page must offer relevant content if many quality sites link to it.

Do the following to improve the ranking for your web page "http://www.mobilex.in/" on Google.com for the search term "web design company India"

- >> There are too few web pages that link to your web site "http://www.mobilex.in/". You should increase the number of web pages from different domains that link to your web site.
- >> Some people think that inbound links from .edu or .gov domains can be beneficial for your search engine ranking. Your web page "http://www.mobilex.in/" is not linked from .edu/.gov domains (at least none of these links have been found in this analysis) although it could be important for a top ranking on Google.com for the search term "web design company India".
- >> DMOZ.org (Open Directory Project) does not link to your web page "http://www.mobilex.in/" although it could be important for a top ranking on Google.com for the search term "web design company India". You should try to get a link from DMOZ.org (Open Directory Project).
- OK Yahoo.com (Directory Results) links to your web page "http://www.mobilex.in/". This is good as it could be important for a top ranking on Google.com for the search term "web design company India".

General Advice

High search engine rankings are the result of good inbound links and optimized web page contents. You must have both to succeed on search engines.

The more other web sites link to your web site the better. Search engines find this factor important because it is an off-site factor, meaning that it is not directly under your control.

Submit your web site to general directories (such as the Yahoo directory and Dmoz.org) and industry-specific directories to get links from these sites.

Exchange links with other related web sites. Find web sites that link to your competitors' sites. They might want to link to your site as well.

Exchange links with web sites that offer "add link" forms.

Make sure that other web sites use the search term "web design company India" in the link text when linking to your site. Search engines assume that your web page must be relevant for the search term "web design company India" if other web pages link to your web site with "web design company India" in the link text.

Make sure that surfers can find the links to your site on your link partner's web sites. The link to your site that is buried 3-4 levels away from the home page may not be as valuable as a link prominently placed on the home page.

Links that are in bold face or uses a big font may be more important than other links.

Use the search term "web design company India" in the link texts of your own links.

Do not use exactly the same link text for all links because that might look unnatural to search engines. Use different but related link texts that contain your keyword and related keywords.

The best way to attract new links is if your web site offers unique content that cannot be found anywhere else. Then web sites voluntarily link to your site. Try to regularly add new web pages, articles and texts to your web site.
